In the vision, I saw the Lord with dominos to His left and right. He then said, “These are the days when the dominos of My judgments will fall at an accelerated pace. As they do, the Church will take notice.” The Spirit then revealed that a shift in what He is doing is coming.

He then said, “Be sensitive to My Spirit as to what I do because things are going to pick up.” I then saw Jesus looking at His watch – symbolic of the change ahead being close at hand. “So be ready. These are the days of running with My word and My messages.”

I then saw dominoes falling toward different churches. The Spirit reminded me, “The judgment that I said would come to places that they call ‘churches’, but are false, will come.” I then saw a row of dominos stacked so that the last one toppled onto a pastor. The Lord’s message to pastors and leaders within the Church is “change or perish!”

I then saw His judgment spreading from the east, through the southern states, towards the West Coast. The Spirit then revealed that dominos of judgment would fall throughout Texas and would primarily affect assemblies, which may or may not be churches. As judgment falls, many in the Church will be in terror, crying out to the Lord. He then said, “I’ve been speaking to them, but they haven’t been listening. As My judgment falls, they will have their ears tuned to Me.

I then saw His judgments reaching Southern California, heading north, then moving across the top of the country from west to east, and finally down the East Coast. It was as if He would set up a perimeter around the entire United States. I sensed the Spirit say, “I am going to surround America with My army, for it has not heeded My words, nor My final warning.” I then saw judgment falling. In the vision, the Lord was slightly ahead of me and turned back to me, saying, “I told you it was coming; I told you I would bring it. I also said you would be appalled at what I do, so don’t fear or be dismayed. Fear Me and stay in My Glory.”

He is determined to bring judgment to America, and it is close at hand.

“Know that these are different days; this is the time of the shift in how I am moving – the time of acceleration has come.”

I was then impressed by the Holy Spirit that He has much to reveal in the days ahead.
